Getting to and from UMB

By all accounts, most notably from local news meteorologists, it was an unprecedentedly bad year for the commuter. Record breaking storms in and around Boston made our commute to and from UMB a real horror show.

More snow fell on us in the winter of '95-'96, 104 inches, than in any other time in recorded history.

"It was a commuters nightmare," said WCVB-TV Meteorologist Dick Albert. "It was an unusually messy winter. There were 25 days where it was a real problem and took much longer to get where you were going."

WBZ-TV meteorologist Bruce Schwoegler summed up the commuters experience as "...more snow, more slush, more grief. Forecasting in New England this winter made me long for a job in meteorology in Miami somewhere."

THE SEASONS OF CAMPUS LIFE

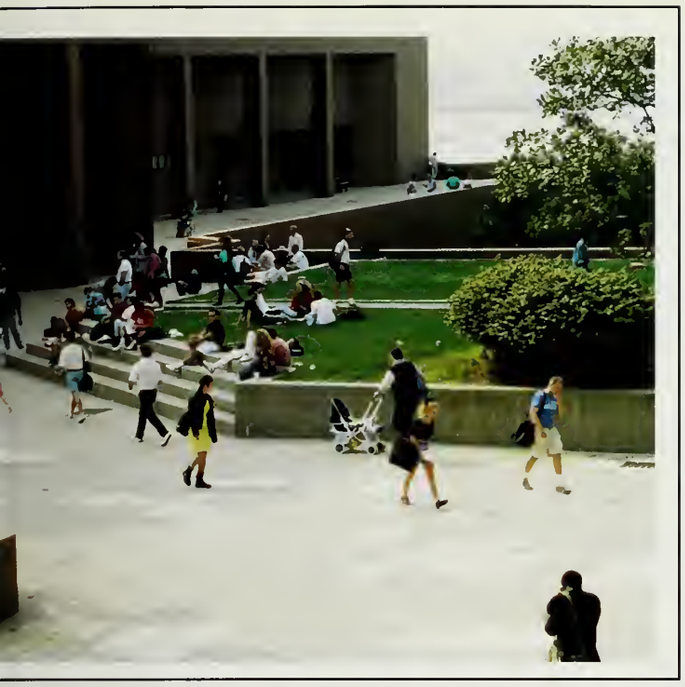

Like the New England seasons we have weathered, our life at UMB has been marked by constant change. In four years (in many cases longer) we have grown from hesitant freshmen to confident seniors. Steeped in our diversity and proud of our accomplishments we have forged ahead toward the challenging environment of the future steadied by fond memories and friendships we have made along the way.

WORKING TO MAKE OUR LIVES EASIER AND SAFER

Though our interactions with administrative services, public safety, and student assistance, may not have always been pleasant, the men and women of these offices worked hard each semester to make our lives as students easier and safer. Whether it was the Financial Aid Office, the Bursar's Office, the Registrar's Office, the Public Safety Office or even the Information Booth, we cheered when the answer was yes, and vexed our displeasure when the answer was no. Though we may not have always appreciated their efforts, they continued to serve and assist us. Thus as we say goodbye to UMB we respectfully say thank you for all you did to see us through.

LINES

As one student observed during freshman orientation, "I seemed to be spending a lot of time in line today, is this common?" ...Welcome to UMB.

As seniors, now graduates, we became accustomed to the litany of lines associated with our education. We cued up for nearly everything: the shuttle to and from campus, to pay our bills and a seemingly endless list of fees, to sign up for classes, to buy books, for food and coffee, and finally our last official act of waiting - to receive our diplomas at graduation.

The operative insight to assuage us has always been "good things come to those who wait." No doubt there were those occasions when the waiting game was an opportunity to chat with someone from Hong Kong, Brazil or Kenya, or figure out that programming problem that had been dogging us. Anxious moments awaiting your turn at the window may have turned into a rare lesson in the art of distraction as the mother just ahead of you managed to amuse the overheated toddler tugging at her side.

In the grand scheme of the university experience lines are funny things. They exhaust us but teach us patience. And in the end they mark our progress. Adorned in cap and gown we finally reach the front of the line.

As we see it

Student Centers

UMass Boston's commitment to serve a diverse, urban population is evident in the 10 student-run centers on campus. Over time these centers have grown in size, strength and influence. These organizations continue to be a major part of the co-curricular life on campus. During the academic year various centers presented cultural and informational events aimed at educating the university community. Among some of the highlights were the Marvin Gaye documentary, the Kwaanza celebration, and the Black Fashion Show presented by the Black Student Center; the Domestic Violence Awareness series by The Women's Center, and the annual Asian Cultural Festival put on by the Asian Center. No doubt many of you took part, and walked away with fond memories of these and other events put on by the centers.

Student Life Office

Student Life Staff (L toR) - Donna Neal, Irene Ryan, Kelly Clark, Rita Haidul- Campbell, Bob Cole, Diane Murphy, Linda Smith-Mooney.

Randy Barrett tends to business in the Student Life Office.

The Student Life office is the focal point of campus activities for the university. All official student organizations from the student government, to the Arts and Events Committee, to the student centers and clubs rely on the expertise of the Student Life staff for support. The Student Life staff works with all the student organizations in the planning and execution of campus wide parties, poetry readings, lectures and festivals. We are sure that many of you will remember the long lines at the beginning of each semester as you waited to purchase a locker or get a student ID card. Or perhaps you will look back on all the free goodies and discounts that were for sale at Student Life. No doubt many of you picked up your T-Pass at the office or one of the free passes to the museums around Boston. The Student Life staff congratulates all of you on your achievements and wishes you all success in the future.

Student Senate

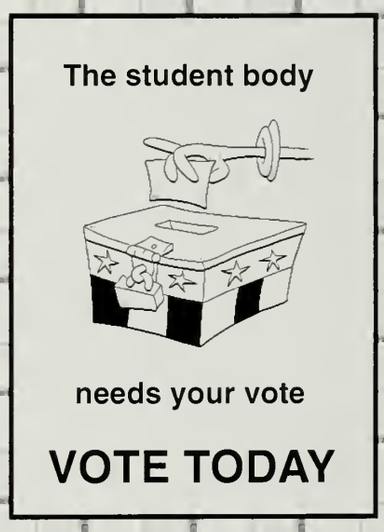

The Senate comes to order to hash-out an agreement on a constitutional issue.

The Undergraduate Student Senate spent most of the 1995-1996 academic year in heated debate on constitutional and procedural issues. Despite the gridlock on some of these matters the body politic moved forward on a number of fronts.

The Senate allocated additional funds than in previous years to student clubs and organizations in recognition of the growing number of students participating in activities. The Senate tackled such hot campus issues as parking fees and the lowering of the student activities fee. On the broader political front senators made some significant strides on the all-important financial aid debates held at the State House and in Washington, DC.

"Welcome to the SAEC."

SAEC
STUDENT ARTS & EVENTS COUNCIL

Funded by the Student Activities Trust Fund and overseen by the Undergraduate Student Senate, the Student Arts and Events Council has the Herculean task of accommodating the broad entertainment interests of the student body.

Over the years students have come to rely on the ticket series sponsored by the SAEC. This year's offerings included a general student body membership to the Museum of Fine Arts, discount passes to the Museum of Science, the Children's Museum, and the John F. Kennedy Presidential Library. In addition the SAEC offered discounted movie passes to the Showcase, Sony, and National Amusement Theaters. Special performance discount tickets were made available this year to the Boston Red Sox, Boston Celtics, Handel & Hayden Society, The Boston Ballet's Nutcracker, Black Nativity, Shear Madness, and The House of Blues Gospel Brunch. As always the SAEC provided students with poetry readings, feature films, lectures, pizza parties and the ever popular beginning and end-of-semester parties.

Working the problem

Center for Student Advocacy

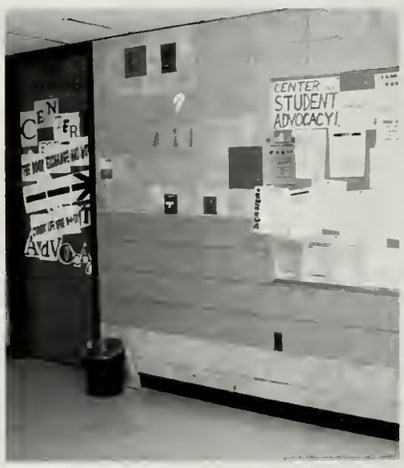

The Student Advocacy Center has long been known as the place to go when you need information and assistance with a weighty administrative problem. Primarily the center staff helps students with financial aid problems and provides further information and referals to other specialists on campus. The center conducts workshops each semester on the Writing Proficiency Exam preparing students for the all-important test. This past year coordinator Scott O'Neil started a Book Exchange to help students cut down the cost of buying textbooks. O'Neil also worked with MassPIRG this year on voter registration drives. And lastly, the center led the charge this year at the state house to fight both federal and state attempts to change the financial aid funding formula adversely affecting students.

Scott O'Neil is the answer man on campus.

Smoothing out bumps in the road

The ARMS Center (Advocacy for Resources for Modern Survival) mission is that of helping students on public assistance to remain in school. The center educates students on the programs and types of assistance available to them and their families. Under the direction of Gena Thompson the center spent much of this year educating the student body on the impact surrounding the federal and state cuts to the welfare system. The center held its annual Christmas party for students and their children in December in the Student Lounge. In the spring the ARMS center teamed up with the Women's Center to co-sponsor a lecture by Marian Kramer, President of the National Welfare Rights Union, entitled "Building the Movement in the Face of Welfare Reform."

A year to remember

Under the Direction of Allington Edwards the Black Student Center held an array of activities this year not only of interest to African-American students but to the entire university community. In the fall the BSC conducted an Open House introducing the goals and anticipated activities for the year. In October the BSC sponsored a showing of a documentary on the life of Marvin Gaye including a discussion with Gaye's daughter Nona Gaye following the viewing of the film. Also in the fall the BSC held two cultural events: a poetry fest at Wally's Cafe and a lecture by David Lamb author of "Do Plantains Go Wit Collard Greens?" As always the fall semester ended with the ever-colorful and much anticipated Kwaanza celebration in December.

In the Spring the BSC held its annual Fashion Show as well as a discussion on "Race and Identity" in conjunction with the Black Studies Department and the Philosophy Club. The Center concluded 1996 on a high note with an end-of-the-year party.

ASIAN CENTER

Under the direction of William Sum the Asian Center at UMB is the umbrella organization for all Asian student clubs on campus. This truly multicultural center houses the Chinese club, the Japanese Club, the Vietnamese Club, the Korean Club, and the Asian-American Club. This year the center was busy conducting a number of activities in conjunction with these varied clubs. The center sponsored the fall semester dance, the Vietnamese New Year's Celebration, Asian Cultural Festival and a variety of others events from Japanese animation afternoons to Kareoke nights at the Wit's End Cafe.

Dancing at the cultural festival.

CASA LATINA

"Mi casa es su casa"

Under the direction of Michael Barreto, Casa Latina is the home away from home for many of UMB's Latino students on campus. The center continues to be a focal point for the hispanic community as well as providing the university community at large with insights into Latin-American life and culture with events and activities.

In October Casa Latina sponsored Latino Student Month. In the month long celebration the center organized an art show with the Harbor Art Gallery featuring works of many Hispanic artists. As well, the celebration featured several lectures and a musical performance by the group Cultura. Throughout the year the center continued to be active in sponsoring events such as the Latino Jazz Band concert in April at the Wit's End Cafe.

After a busy year members of Casa Latina are all smiles.

VETS CENTER

Breakfast of champions at the Vet Center.

The Veterans Center continues to be one of the more utilized and influential centers on campus. Along with the many activities, events, and lectures that the center sponsors, it's a relaxing space for veteran students to study or kick back before, between, or after classes.

This year, under director Jeff Male, the center coordinated a bus trip to Washington, DC to participate in activities at the Vietnam Memorial for Veterans Day. Throughout the year the center continued their support for the Upward Bound Program providing students with tutoring and academic assistance. As always the center sponsored activities to assist fellow veterans with clothing drives to support the Veterans Homeless Shelters throughout the area. In the spring they organized a harbor cruise complete with dinner, dancing and an a special awards ceremony to honor those for distinguished service.

WOMENS CENTER

Awareness and more

The International Women's Day Celebration.

One of the oldest student organizations on campus, The Women's Center continued its long tradition of bringing women issues to the forefront of the university community. Under the direction of Elaine Batakis-Hyde, the center sponsored several important awareness activities and panel discussions on the issue of domestic violence.

In conjunction with these and other events concentrating on domestic violence, the center co-sponsored the Clothesline Project with the Harbor Art Gallery to dramatize the effects of domestic violence on women through art. The center also held safety awareness workshops, co-sponsored women's political issues panels with the Program for Women in Politics, and sponsored a one man show "I Don't Understand Women" by Rawan Naxrocki. On a lighter note the center hosted a number of social events, such as an open house, a Valentine's Day party and the International Women's Day Celebration..

Our door is open

The Lesbian, Gay and Bisexual Center's fall activities included an Open House to acquaint the UMB community with the center's goals and plans for the year, a gay and lesbian theme film series, and several discussion groups fighting homophobia. In the spring the center launched the Gay/Straight Alliance to promote tolerance and assist in their efforts during AIDS Awareness week. As always the LGB continued to provide students with a comfortable space in which to study, socialize or make new friends.

"Sooner or later, the massive gay population will indeed win their rights, as other groups have already done. Sooner or later, the strife and anger and hatred and violence against gay people will be put aside. What we seek now is to leap over the many years and great turmoil that will take place by having the person who represents these people speak out now."

A.S.A.C.

Originally created as referral center and an educational clearinghouse of substance abuse information, the Alcohol and Substance Awareness Center has evolved into a safe haven for students looking for guidance on personal matters. This year, Director Thomas Hoar continued to offer the center as a place for students to share their experiences in a safe and confidential environment. As always, the center maintains an extensive referral list of agencies and groups to assist those with addictions.

This past year the center co-sponsored a number of activities, celebrating National Alcohol Awareness Week in October. The week of events and activities ended with a successful Sober Dance in the McCormack Hall cafeteria.

In the spring semester the Center worked with the Health Promotion Program to sponsor AIDS awareness week.

The center for disAbilities - awareness paves the way

The Center for Students with DisAbilities continued its campaign to inform the University community on disabilities and to make UMB accessible to all.

In the fall, the center, directed by Stewart Lewis, held a disabilities awareness fair to educate students on living with disabilities. The center also sponsored a series of lectures on such issues as the Americans with Disabilities Act and Attention Deficit Disorders. Though one of the newest centers on campus, it has quickly become a gathering point for students with disabilities to hang out and relax. The center is also home to several student clubs. They include the Visually Impared Persons group (VIP club) the Sign Language club, the Student Council on Learning Disabilities and the Tramatic Brain Injury group.

Party!!!

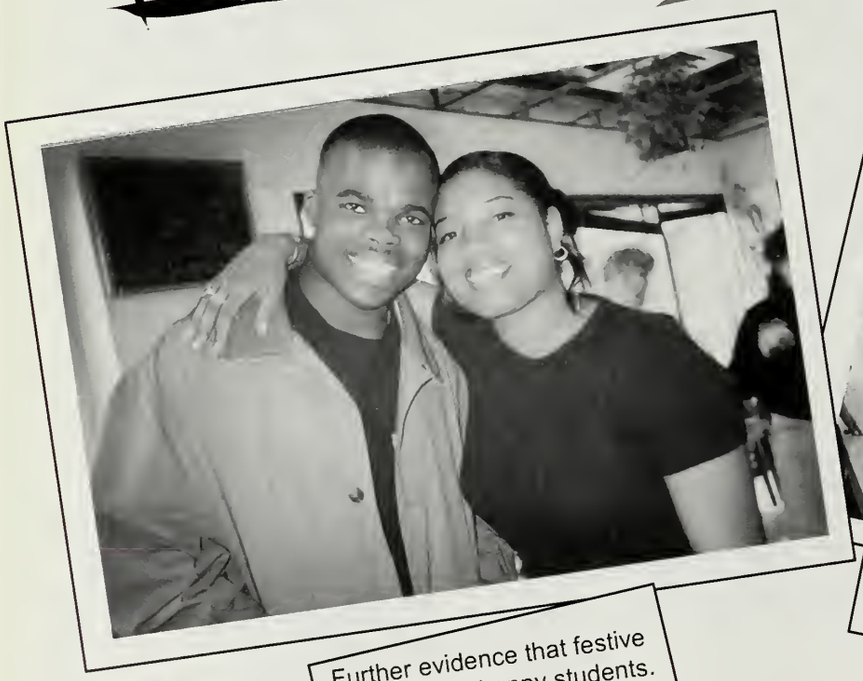

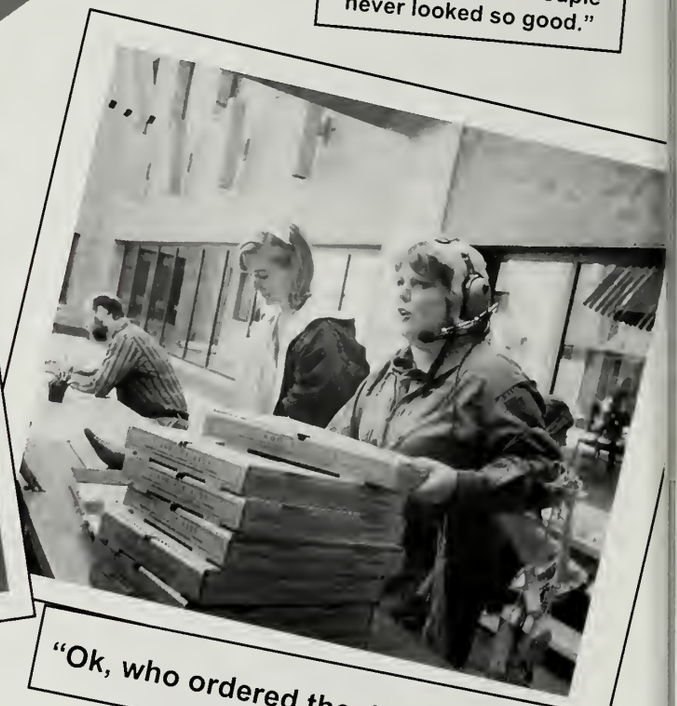

Wether it was Kwanza, Christmas, New Years, Halloween, the Senior Ball or just some end-of-the-semester food fest, as UMB students we were always up for a celebration. Dedicated to the historical imperatives of compiling a comprehensive record of the year, we here at the Yearbook worked tirelessly to attend these events to photograph and document the festivities. We discovered that a slice of pizza always makes for a fine photo opportunity.

"The happy lovin' couple never looked so good."

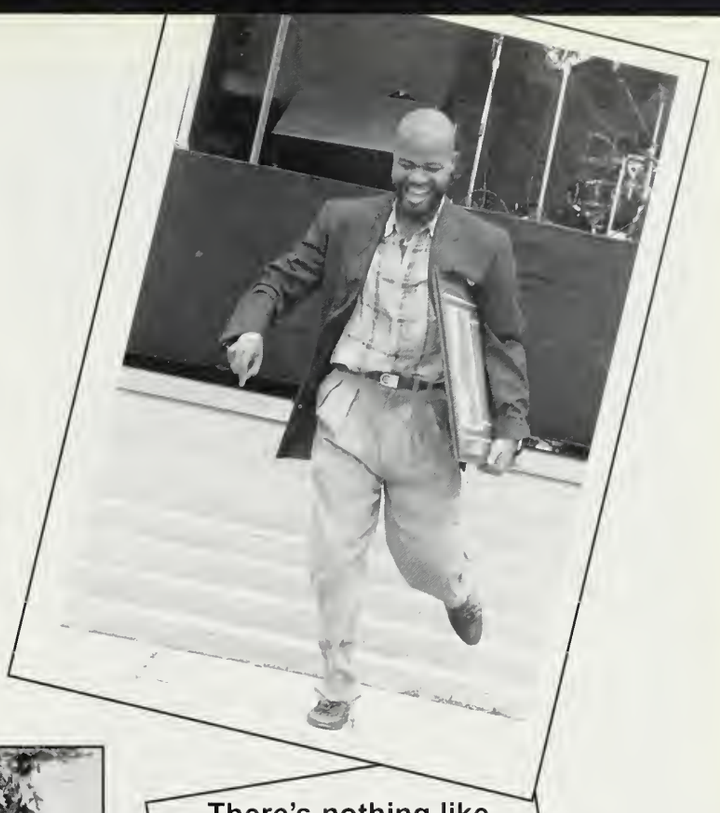

Further evidence that festive students are happy students.

WIT`S END

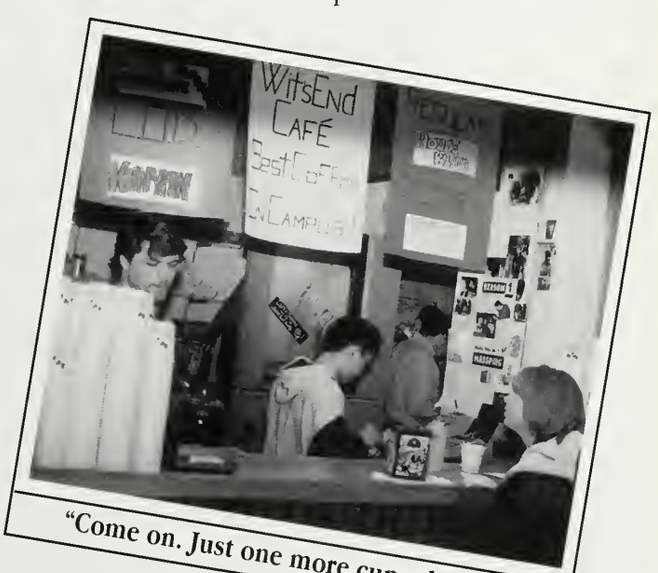

Phil Antonelli serves up the goods.

We could always count on the folks at Wit's End to keep our coffee buzz goin'. Wether it was a regular or a specialty cup of Kenyan, it was always the go-juice needed to get us through the next class. Don't forget the cream cheese brownie or the rasberry pastry when sugar was also required to keep our lids from shuttin' on us. From one cup to the next was how many of us got through and eventually finished to get dressed in all black and receive a piece of paper from the higher minds that said we could go now.

So off we went and we took our cups with us.

The Senior Ball

Friday, May 24, 1996

Over 400 graduates and guests got together in the main ballroom of the Cambridge Marriott to celebrate a difficult year, and to bid a final farewell to the university and to their lives as students. It was a festive send-off celebration filled with fine food, music and dance. A four course sit-down dinner was capped-off by Professor Duncan Nelson's comical "Ode to the Graduates" presentation. Dinner hadn't even been digested when the celebration moved to the ballroom floor where party goers grooved and sweated the night away. True to its name, it was a ball.

Chancellor Penney says great work, goodbye, and good luck to the class of 1996

June first, 1996, a magnificent day! Years of hard work and dedication yielded their result: the University of Massachusetts Boston Class of '96 received its much deserved recognition, and went forth to take its place in our city, commonwealth, nation and world. It took courage, optimism and faith on your part to bring you to that moment. Now you take your place in a community which needs your strengths and skills, your values and vision.

Chancellor Sherry H. Penney addresses the graduates at Commencement 1996.

Always retain the faith in yourself that has brought you to this point, for you are a remarkable group of women and men. Many of you are the first in your family to earn the degrees you received; the way was not eased by familiarity and easy expectation. Most of you earned your degrees while being fully employed. Many of you raised families or supported aged family members. Some of you overcame the hurdles posed by immigration to a new country and some of you overcame hurdles known only to yourselves. Notwithstanding these tremendous demands on your time and energy, many of you found the personal resources to do volunteer work and help others along the way. It is a remarkable record. It is a source of strength that will always be a part of who you are.

Your university gains strength, too, from what you have achieved and who you are. Umass Boston was created to provide a truly excellent education to students of metropolitan Boston. In this, we have succeeded, with good teachers, good learning. Thirty-one years ago, our first class entered. It reflected Boston's diversity that has grown until now we fly the flags of 48 nations on the roadway to campus, a sampling of the 115 nations from which you come. What makes this great diversity a strength? Again, your marked capacity to learn, to learn from your fellows. This openness to what is new will serve you well in the years to follow.

What you have achieved is more than you realize. Always remember what enormous regard the faculty and staff have for the effort you have made and the community you represent. I join them in admiration and respect, and give you my heartfelt wishes for a future that brings you full fruition of what was nurtured here by the community of learning and your part in it.

The College of Public and Community Services

Congratulations! The CPCS faculty and staff, myself included, are proud of you and wish you the best. You will now move forward in your life to improve your life and that of the communities in which you may work and/or live. Don't leave for tomorrow what you are ready to start today!

We are proud that many of you will further your education at the graduate level. Make the most of it! We are equally proud of those of you who will continue your public service careers and those of you who continue to be committed to enhance the quality of life in your communities. Take advantage of the knowledge and skill you learned while in CPCS. Use it, for it will serve you well.

We are working toward a new era of creative engagement and innovation, always seeking to improve what we do here at CPCS. As a member of the great alumni community of CPCS, you have now become living testimonies and ambassadors for life of what CPCS stands for: the constant search for greatness within ourselves and within the world we live in, through education, experience, and compassion.

The College of Arts and Sciences

On behalf of the faculty and staff of the College of Arts and Sciences, we offer the graduating class of 1996 our congratulations and best wishes for the future. We are proud of all of you; you are our greatest resource. You and your classmates form a diverse and rich student body who have enhanced all of our lives. Although each student's experience at UMass Boston has been unique, you share many common goals and expectations. While grappling with your courses, your work schedules, and your family responsibilities, you have sacrificed much and worked hard to earn your degrees. Be proud of your achievements. It is through your hard work and diligence that you have succeeded. This determination, in addition to the knowledge you have acquired at UMass Boston - both in and out of the classroom— will enable you to continue to prosper, whether it be at home, in the community, in the workplace, or in graduate school. We applaud your accomplishments and look forward to your continuing association with UMass Boston as alumni. May all of your hopes and expectations be realized.

The College of Nursing

Dean of the College of Nursing Brenda Cherry

Congratulations to the 1995-96 graduates of the College of Nursing! You have achieved an educational milestone that is an essential credential in the future of Nursing and Human Performance & Fitness. In doing so, you have distinguished yourselves from many who have been unable or unwilling to make the sacrifices necessary to achieve a baccalaureate degree. You as a role model and your achievement an example of what can be accomplished with hard work and determination.

The abilities and skills you have gained and refined her at the University of Massachusetts Boston (UMB) should serve you well in the increasingly complex and competitive workforce. It is our hope that you will exercise them with integrity, compassion and professionalism. Your faculties are proud to present you to the professional community and are confident that you will represent the College and University in an exemplary manner.

BRENDA CHERRY,
Dean of the College of Nursing

The College of Management

Congratulations to the graduates of the College of Management! You have been diligent students during your years here, and we salute your accomplishments and wish you every success as you venture forth.

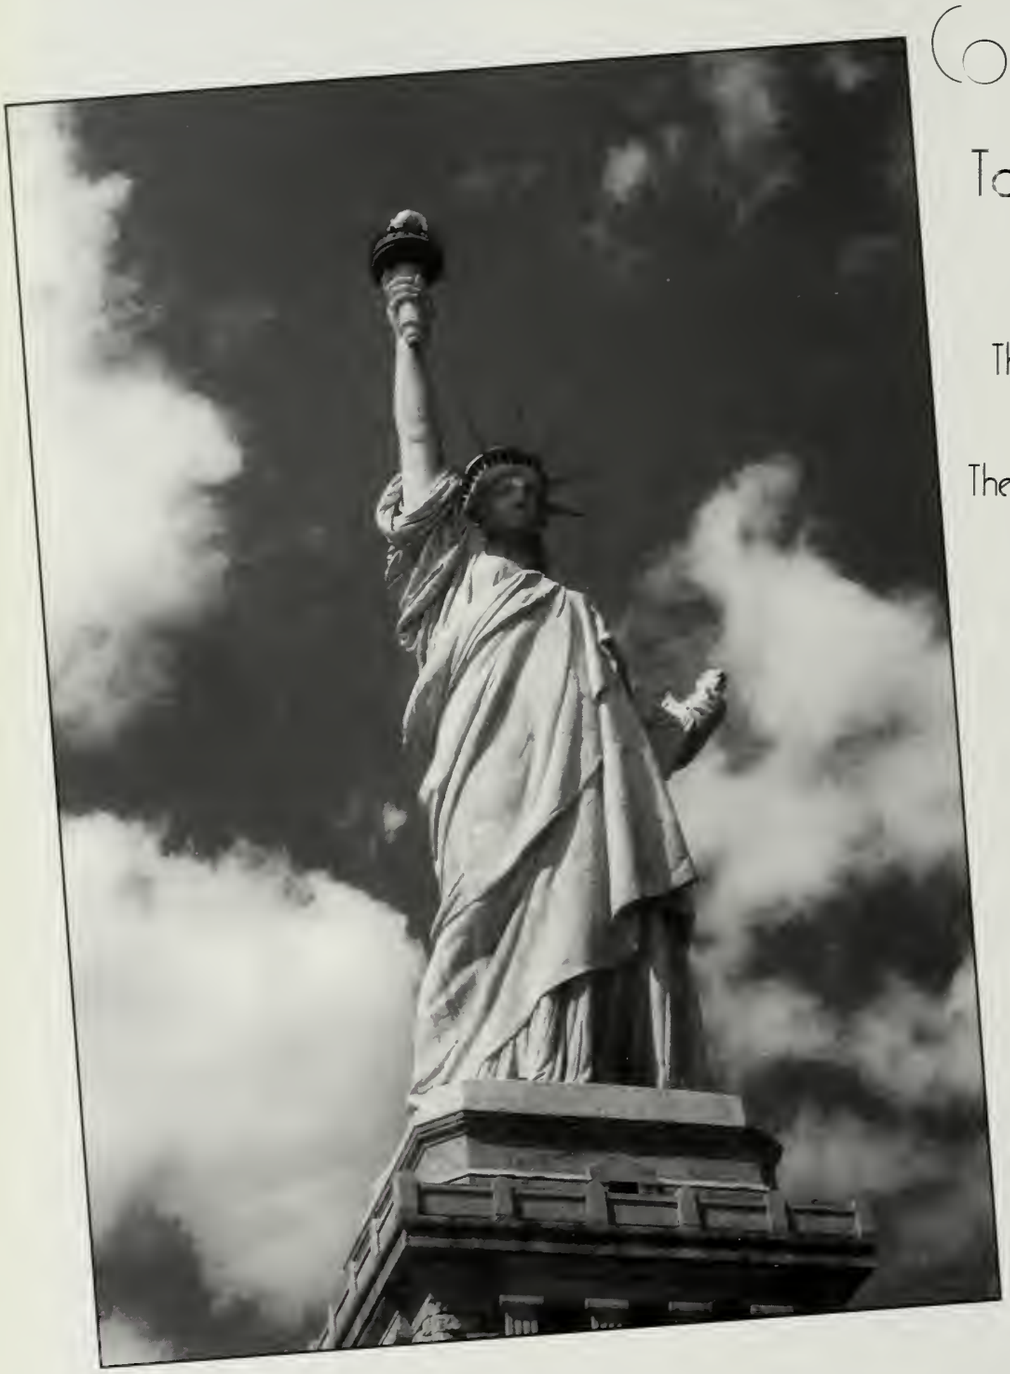

As you go out and face new challenges and opportunities, I invite each and every one of you to be loyal alumni and alumnae. Indeed, I would hope that, by virtue of the quality of the training you have received, each of you willingly and enthusiastically concludes that we merit your loyalty! We who remain her at UMass Boston -students, faculty, and staff- will continue striving to build an even better management program. But we need loyal allies in the "market place." We need allies who can identify work study opportunities for our students. We need allies who can lead us to placement opportunities for future graduates. We need loyal allies who can identify corporate partners with whom we can continue building a relevant management curriculum.

Dean of the College of Management Eric W. Hayden

Of one thing you can all be sure: we will reciprocate your loyalty. I have established an Alumni Advisory Board to sustain and nurture contacts among CM graduates and between the College and its graduates. I invite each of you to participate in the various activities -both professional and social- which the Board hosts each year. Working together through the Board, we can enrich one another as each of you embarks on the exciting new chapter awaiting you as a graduate of the College of Management.

ERIC W. HAYDEN,

Provost Louis Esposito presents Irene Blach with the John F. Kennedy Award for Academic Excellence.

University of Massachusetts at Boston

Commencement 1996 • Saturday, June 1, 11:00 am

"To celebrate this day I hope you will also promise to celebrate yourselves."

- Jessye Norman

UMass President William Bulger smiles as he announces his intent to keep his remarks brief and keep the proceedings moving along.

In her closing remarks Chancellor Sherry Penney notes that many in the Class of 1996 are the first in their family to graduate from college.

President Bulger congratulates artist, actor, and singer Harry Belefonte upon receiving his honorary Doctor of Laws degree.

In her graduation address, world famous opera singer Jessye Norman urges the class of 1996 to make the arts part of your every day life.

"Art makes each of us whole by insisting that we use all of our senses, our heads and our hearts, and that we express ourselves with our voices, our hands, our bodies, as well as with our minds."

- Jessye Norman

"Now, it may be that i'm in side but do I look

touch with my feminine like an Emily to you?"

ONE FLEW OVER THE CUCKOOS NEST

by Dale Wasserman
from the novel by Ken Kesey
directed by Brendan Hughes original music by Chris Colbourn of Buffalo Tom Friday, May 17 through Sunday, May 19 at 8 pm
in the McCormack Theater of UMass/Boston

The Chief (Gregory Cushna) in a moment of dramtic repose (above right). Below McMurphy (Colin Delmare Riley) convinces Candy (Sibel Mandalinci) to go a round with Billy Bibbit.

"It's medication time."

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS BOSTON

ASIAN CULTURAL FESTIVAL

MAY 2, 1996

Above right - a demonstration of Odaiko (Japanese Drumming). Right - a demonstration of traditional Japanese Karate. Below right - the Wah Lum kung Fu "Lion Dance." Opposite page top right - the "Goonji" an Indian folk Dance. Middle left - the Philippine "Sakuting" dance. Middle right - a Chinese Kung Fu demonstration.

Eleven years ago, the Cultural Festival began as a way to celebrate the many diverse cultures of Asian Students on campus and to promote awareness and recognition of our cultures for the benefit of the whole university.

The Asian Cultural Festival aims to promote cross-cultural understanding among all the different ethnicities and has been very successful, productive, and wonderful. The Cultural Festival features professional as well as student performances and is an opportunity for our community, on and off campus, to showcase their talents.

Black Student Fashion Show

"Lolipop, lolipop, oh loli-loli-pop."

The UMB Black Student Center held its annual fashion show aptly titled "Ready or Not" at the Cambridge Marriott May 12. A raucus audience of over 800 whooped-it-up and cheered the models on, all members of the Black Student Center, at this always eagerly anticipated event. Models featured the wears of such well-known companies as Reebok, Footlocker, Bricthes, Pimp Gear, Phat St. Gear, Mr. Tux and Lady Footlocker. After the parade along the runway, models and audience members mixed it up on the dance floor until the wee hours of the morniededeedng to the music expertly spun by local DJ Savalia Hyman.

"Walking the dog."

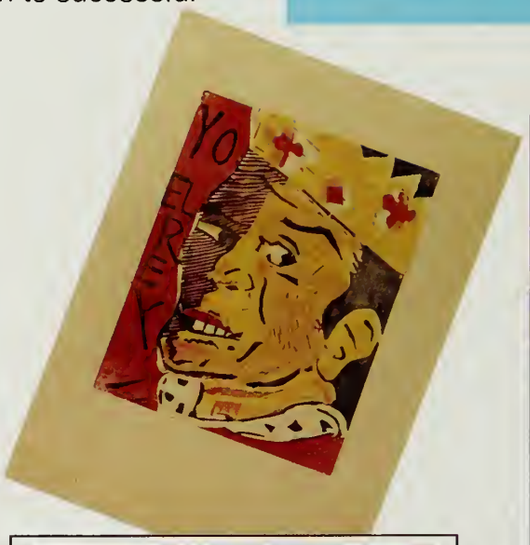

Student Exhibit

The Harbor Art Gallery held its annual Student Show in the spring. Students were encouraged to submit their artwork for display in the gallery in this juried show. The selected works were displayed in both the Harbor Art Gallery and on the 5th floor of the Healey Library. The annual show has highlighted a number of UMB students who have gone on to successful careers in the arts.

UMass-Boston

Sports

Averaging 16.4 points per game, Junior Linda Caruso became the second player in UMB history to break the 1,000 point scoring barrier.

Pilgrim League All-star and UMB's leading scorer Jon Shocket helped lead the Beacons to its most successful season in school history with a 12 -1 record.

NCAA Final Four

1996 • Meadowlands

Congratulations and thanks!!!

We here at the Beacon would like to extend our thanks and congratulations to our sister school at Amherst for making the University of Massachusetts the #1 ranked team in the nation and for taking the university to the Final Four in college basketball. In the midst of a miserable winter it gave many of us reason to cheer and to take pride in our university.

The HARBOR Gallery

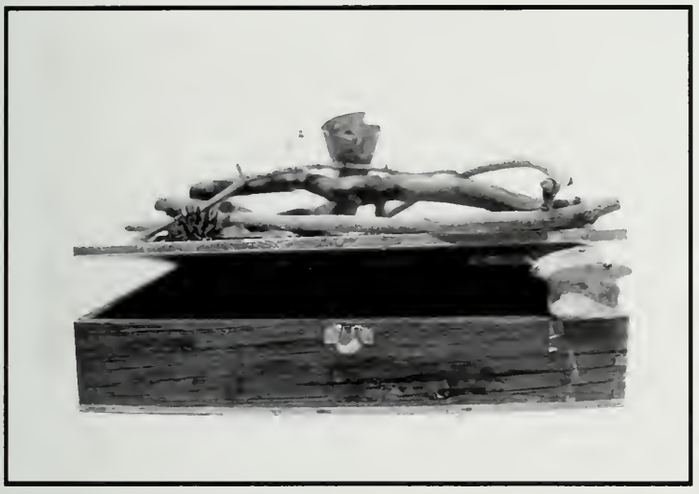

The Harbor Art Gallery under the direction of Coordinator Frank Tipping had a banner year in showcasing up and coming artists. As director of UMB's art gallery, Tipping provided the campus community with an elite array of paintings, photography, sculpture and found-object works. Local and rising national artists delighted all who visited the gallery with their diverse expressions of creativity.

First-time winner Kenya's Moses Tanui beat out favorite and fellow Kenyan Cosmos Ndeti to win the maraton with a time of 2:09:16

Three-time women's division winner Germany's Uta Pippig suffered through stomach cramps, menstrual cramps and diarrhea to win with a time of 2:27:12.

Heinz Frei of Switzerland took the men's crown in the wheelchair division with a time of 1:30:14.

Once again America's Jean Driscoll took the women's wheelchair division with a time of 1:52:56.

Once they reach Boylston Street runners at long last can see the finish just a few hundred yards away.

Above: UMass-Boston students were among the over 1.5 million spectators who lined the course to cheer the runners on.

DUKAKIS

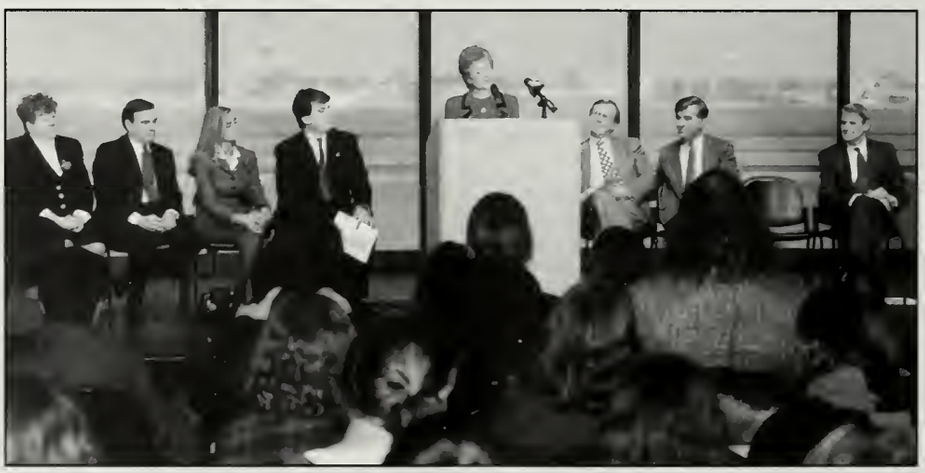

Former governor and presidential nominee Michael Dukakis presents his donation to UMB to fund public service internships.

Former Massachusetts governor and 1984 democratic nominee for president Michael Dukakis gave UMass-Boston students the gift of educational opportunity.

With monies from the dissolution of his 1984 presidential campaign fundraising committee, Dukakis donated $100,000 to UMB for public service internships to benefit students pursuing studies in government. This money will be matched by the university to provide as many as four paid internships per year for both graduate and undergraduate students.

"Public service is as important today as it ever has been in the history of our country and we must encourage and inspire young people to serve. I hope in some small way these internships will do that," said Dukakis.

Chancellor Sherry Penney thanks Former Governor Michael Dukakis for his generous sponsorship of student internships at UMass-Boston.

DONATION

The 4th Annual Student Leadership Luncheon

May 9, 1996

Over 100 students were recognized for their achievements and service to the university at the 4th Annual Student Leadership Luncheon held on the 11th floor of the Healey Library.

Students were nominated for awards from various departments including Student Life, Athletics, campus employment, and from the four colleges of study at UMB. The highlight of the event was as always the original poem composed and read by English Professor Duncan Nelson honoring the individual student leaders.

UMB English Professor Duncan Nelson recites his ode to the student leaders.

Before I begin, "Caveat Emptor!"
For me, end-rhymes is The Great Tempter;
So mispronunciation will lurk
In line after line to make couplets work!

With a list long as this, who can expect:
That I be "poetically correct,"
And write a stanza in celebration
Of each name put into nomination.
If I did this, when there are so mennium,
We'd all be here until the Millennium!
So today I'll fire fast, let the walls ring
With name after name. Your bard shall sing
A concentrated concatenation
Of those who have earned our commendation.
Through these names you will feel the variations.
Of those many colors and creeds and nations
That make up the melting-pot "pot-pourri"
We are pleased to have at UMB.
And so that we may recognize
Who you are, when I name you, please rise!

Roll out the red carpet! Wheel in the wheel-chair!
For Ms. Dis/Abilities, Debbie Sinclair!
And another Center mentor who is Equally wonderful: Stewart Lewis!
Let cheers swell for Michelle Carmichael,
Who created the Orientation Cycle!
There's this Schweitzer Fellow who wants to be sure a
Lot more will follow him — Richard Scepura!
And two who already have — real world-beaters! —
Are Jen Taylor and Abe Herrera-Peters!
In Nursing, these names are very importan':
Mary Willis, Anne Batchellar, William Borden!

And the Office of Educational Op
Have made absoutely tip-top
Nominations, I sing Hosannah
For "Ambassadors" trained by Inez Maturana:
Roz Eastman, Dave Edwards, Rahul Dalal,
Michael Barreto and Mac Dorval —
This legacy will be long endurin' —
There are more, Shirley Jones and Allen Mathurin,
And also that Study Success seminarian,
The wondrous Belay Kidenamarian!

And now I lift on high my sombrero —
"Muy Bueno," I say to Professor Aguerro:
'Cause of Christine Jennings and Cynthia Crowell,
Laura O' Leary and Tammy Coull;
'Cause of Darlene Morris and Sandrine Laffay
And Takeita Alexander — Ole! —
'Cause of Joel Mora and Matt Colantonio,
We've got mouthpieces south of San Antonio!
Here's to all your long language labor,
Which will make us a better NAFTA neighbor!

At the Wit's End, Mr. Jazz
Meets Mr. Coffee in Mark Vaz!
And another Wit's-Ender, who's given so many Students support is Saint Catherine Kenney!
And no voice ever moved from Vietnamese
To English more sweetly that Linchi Li's!
Go, Joe Moser! Unsung no longer,
On chess board and gridiron, stronger and stronger!
In the Biology "Who's Who"
Is President Kevin Donahue!
And Elaine Bateman, also a President —
Of Senior Nurses. Nor am I hesitant
To tell you that I was quite simply stunned
By the GPA of Sue Satterlund!

Now ring out bells and make them clang
For those who were picked by Professor Kiang:
Starting off with Hyun Jung Lee, a
Wonderful student by way of Korea!
And then there's Delilah Ortiz:
At drumming up majors, Delilah's a whiz!
Then there's Tri Ji Quach — they call him Gee —
Connector-protector of Parcel C!
And there's Louis Chan, who perversely thrives
In the thankless dank of dark archives!
For pronouncing names A-si-an,
I need help, quick! Call Tony Phat Tran!
And do go see those pho-tos
Done in black-and-white by Mitoko Kainose!

And no one addresses with more bravura
The A-Bomb impact than Amy Emura!

David Stockton tells us he's oh so
Grateful that Albertina Cardoso
Works for him, and he's equally free
With his praise for the outreach of Hoang Lee!
And Karlene Derozier and Stephen Hamm
Make stress less. How do they keep so ca'm?

In "Hoop" let's honor those women who so
Excel, Jen Watson and Linda Caruso,
Candace Chaney and Kathleen Carney-Mark
And Cindy White who provided their spark!
Now let's celebrate a goodly horde
From the Student Athletic Advisory Board.
"These guys are great," Charlie Titus says:
Mark Henninger and Frank Soltesz.
"To improve student life" the helping hand is
Out, like that of Carlos Fernandez.
A big help to every Athletic Staffer
Are Michael Moreno and Renee Altaffer.
And after I've named Brian Whelan
And Brian Baharian. I'm appealin'
For help with my rhyme; I need something Czech-y...
Hah! I've got it Deanna Czarniecki!

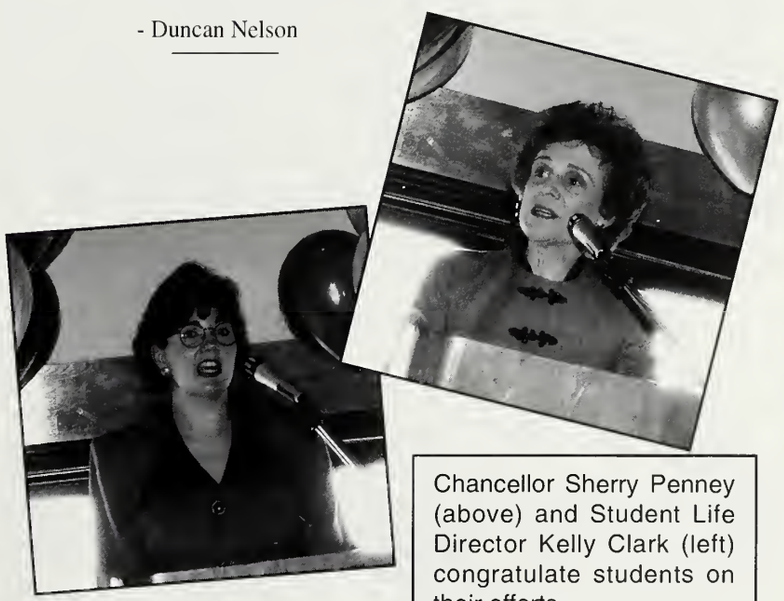

To Nicole Touchette and Theresa Hawes
Let's render "Mass Media-ted" applause;
For the second year, I raise a chorus
To the Veteran's Veteran Robert Morris!
And let me indicate a star
Ascendant, Brenda Collendar
Of the Leadership Program— and Donna Neal says
Another fine leader is Emily Lopez.
In the ID office, back of the cam,
Saying "Watch the birdie," is Coung Pham.
At the yearbook, in truth (in Italian, "E vero"!),
There's David Wheeler and John Ferro;
And serving along with these good men
Is another good one, Quan Ngyuen!
Who's helping Mike Luck's Office find
Those really big bucks? Why, Mara Klien!
And ah, great gratitude is due
To Obinna Ogochukwu!
And here you must indulge the muse
As I switch names around: Sanabria, Cruz!
Vince Cristiani's careful cullin'
Produces wonders like Irene Mullin,
Kristin Williams, and also Lori
Catania — each one a Titania! A glory!
Team Leaders Mike Welby and Ryan McWhinnie
Have persevered through "thick and thinny"!
Selling tickets, Christine Ferrone
Gets the eyes of some guys on matrimony!
In Pre-Med Advising, nobody shows
More care and more knowledge than Martha Munoz.
In the CAS Senate, Frank Kolbe
(I love these off-rhymes!) performed nobly.

Summa Cum Laude-ly, sing along
For Jan Gold and Michelle Berong.
And for helping Latinos, I shall phrase
A sestina for Christina Martinez.
For the man in charge of Exam Review,
Let chimes be rung: that's Chi Hung Leiu
And if you would silence violence, know
The person to talk to is Catherine Badeaux.

I looked through the telescope and saw,
Among "heavenly bodies," Paul Bourgeois!
Erin Hawley's help enhances
Everybody here who dances;
And one of the Pride Progam's most worthy
Peer Educators is Donna Durfee
Your encomiast could scarce ignore a
Person as choice as Joyce Rain Latora!
Nor can I in conscience keep from grapplin'
This guy to my bosom named Stan Kaplan.
For her work with Neal Bruss in External Relations,
Donna Roveto derserves loud ovations.

And here towards the end, let's raise the pitch higha
In praise of Tatyana Yablonovskaya!
And continuing, let the volume be as Loud for Orlando Perillas Arias!
For Katherine Phillips and Mary Willis!
Yea, let Aeolian winds fill us,
That we may blow a mighy gale
To hymm Jim Milton and Jeff Male!
Yea, let praise rain down to bathe 'em,
To shower Sue Coughlin and Patrick Latham!
Let thunder crash, lightning flash over Healy
On Allington Edwards and Marian Mealey,
Jamie Arnstein, Jennifer Cloherty,
Let it rain for forty days and forty,
Nights, in a biblical maelstrom monsoon-y,
To celebrate Ali Eritouni,
Shari Mitchell, John Callahan, Tracy Boyle,
As through the tempest and turmoil,
We reach Paradiso, Divina Commedia
Provides us three graces, Julia Heredia,
Maura Kelly and Susan Fencer!
I've come to the end; let no one censor
This laudatory fulmination,
For you deserve appreciation
That rises above all reservation,
'Til striking celestial reverberations.
You stars take your place 'midst the constellations!
If you think, here and there, my perorations
Are guilty, perhaps, of exaggerations,
Hush! You deserve them! Congratulations!

SNOW

SNOW!

SNOW!!

In case you forgot just how miserable the winter of '95-'96 was for us as students getting to and from campus, we here at the Beacon thought a few more photos would help to remind you of what you won't miss at UMB.

Veteran Activities

Photos p.172 courtesy of Jeff Male.

Always among the more active students on campus, UMB veterans once again made their way to Washington, DC to honor their fallen brethren (p. 172).

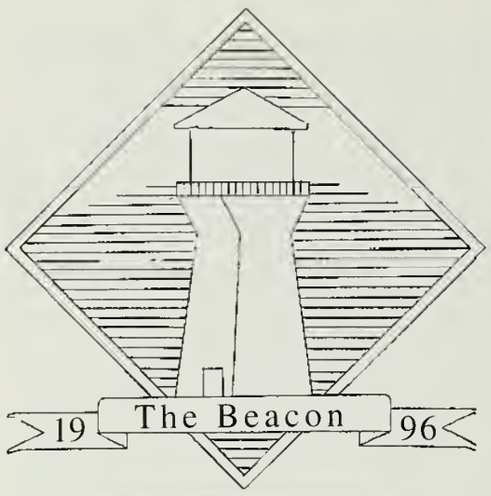

At the end of the year the Veteran's Center sponsored a Boston Harbor dinner cruise (this page) to celebrate the completion of another year and to honor student leaders, faculty and staff for outstanding achievement.

The editors say goodbye, thanks, and good luck

The pain and agony of writing, editing, photographing, designing and producing a comprehensive 176-page book behind us, we, the editors, would like to say a few deserving words to those who helped and inspired us along the way.

First, we would like to say goodbye and good luck to the graduates. This book is for you. It is our sincerest hope that you will look through it often and remember your UMB experiences, bad and good, and the pain, joy and love that accompany those experiences.

We would like to thank our family and friends who put up with our ridiculous schedules and seemingly endless hours working on the yearbook. Your kind and understanding support got us through.

Perhaps our biggest thank you is owed to our advisor and friend Donna Neal who was absolutely instrumental in making this book happen. She was there at every turn with answers to the smallest of questions, and with unflappable support in the most trying of circumstances. Thank you Donna!

Special thanks goes out to those who played supporting but significant roles in producing this book. Laura Whelan was a staff member during the fall semester but had to leave to take a teaching position. Thank you Laura for chasing down copy on the clubs and centers. We only wish we had more of an opportunity to work with you. In the same vein we would like to thank Mara Klein, and Helene Conlon who helped us out in a few tight spots.

Last but certainly not least, we would like to thank Walsworth Publishing and Davor Photography for their understanding and ceaseless assistance in all matters related to producing and photographing this book.

That's all folks. Enjoy.

About the editors ... John is a post-graduate student pursuing his teaching and translation certification in Spanish with the intent of teaching at the secondary level. A 1987 graduate of UMass-Amherst with a Bachelors degree in Political Science and Journalism, John returned to academia after working for several years as a reporter / journalist and then as a high school program advisor.

David is a second-year CPCS student in the Law/Criminal Justice program pursuing a career in law enforcement. A former marine and a Gulf War Veteran, this is David's second year on the yearbook staff.

Quan, a native of Vietnam, came to the United States with his family in December 1990 to pursue educational opportunities unavailable to him in Saigon. Quan is a junior at UMB studying business in the College of Arts and Sciences. This is Quan's third year on the Beacon staff.

Forever whacked on Scooby Snacks, David is caught sniffin' around in front of a 20mm lens. Quan (right) looking clean and composed.
